The Niagara Pumphouse Arts Centre is pleased to present Light on My Path: A Journey Through Nature, a solo exhibition featuring the vibrant and expressive works of acclaimed Canadian artist Nancy L. Moore. The exhibition runs from Oct. 29 to Nov. 30, 2025, in the Joyner Gallery.

Known for her uplifting and evocative style, Moore's paintings often feature forests, wildflowers, rivers and other quintessential elements of the Canadian landscape. Each piece reflects her deep appreciation for nature, rendered with warmth, optimism and an unmistakable personal energy.

The public is warmly invited to attend the opening reception on Sunday, Nov. 2, from 2 to 4 p.m., where guests can meet the artist and experience her work firsthand. Remarks will be shared at 2:30 p.m.

"As an artist, I feel incredibly fortunate to be able to paint and draw without limits," says Moore. "I enjoy experimenting with different mediums, working mostly in acrylics. My style is largely experimental, exploring and pushing boundaries to see if one can still recognize my intention. I never set out to replicate an image, but instead strive to convey a mood or evoke an emotion using loose lines, rich texture and bold colours."

A member of the Ontario Society of Artists (OSA), Society of Canadian Artists (SCA) and Federation of Canadian Artists (FCA), Moore's work is celebrated for its expressive interpretation of the natural world and its ability to transport viewers to serene, light-filled landscapes.

Presented in the Community Gallery, Perspectives features new works by members of the NOTL Arts Collective. This dynamic group show invites viewers to consider "perspective" in multiple senses — both as a core artistic principle and as an expression of personal vision.

In Perspectives, each artist explores the many meanings of the term through their own medium, style and lens, offering fresh ways to experience depth, dimension and narrative. From bold landscapes that lead the eye toward distant horizons to intimate scenes shaped by unique vantage points, the exhibition celebrates the richness that emerges when individual viewpoints converge.

Perspectives reminds us that perspective shapes not only what we create, but how we understand what we see.
